IMPROVEMENT: THE FOCUS OF LEARNING

A top-down view of a desk with a white keyboard, a pair of black-rimmed glasses, a white mug of black coffee, two black pens, a small potted plant, and a decorative container. The background is a light gray surface.

Information before the internet

Things were dramatically different when I was very young Getting news and information took a bit of effort

HOW DO YOU RESPOND ?

INSTEAD, WE OFTEN DO ONE OF THE FOLLOWING :

Blow
Up

Cover

Back
Up

Give
Up

A woman with long brown hair, wearing a red short-sleeved top, is smiling and looking down at a notebook she is holding. She is holding a white pen over the notebook. The background is a blurred outdoor setting with a building and a street.

Insights on Improvement

The desire to improve themselves is in the DNA of all successful people

An aerial photograph of a sandy beach. A series of footprints leads from the bottom center towards the top left, where the ocean waves are breaking. The sand is a warm, golden-brown color. The text is overlaid on the right side of the image.

I. Improving Yourself Is The First Step to Improving Everything Else

Success does not always bring growth, but personal growth will always add to our success.

2.Improvement Requires Us to Move Out of Our Comfort Zone

“Taking a new step, Utterings new world, is what people fear most”.

What does it take to get us to move out our comfort zone? In my operation, it requires two things :

Handling Our Aversion to making mistake

Overcoming a life controlled by feelings

“The most common trait I have found in successful people is that they conquered the temptation to give up”- Peter Lowe

3. Improvement is not satisfied with “quick fixes”

Improvement doesn't come to people who fixate on quick fixes. It comes to the slow but steady people who keep working at getting better.

*Losers don't lose because they focus on losing.
They lose because they focus on just getting by.*

A person wearing a dark suit and a light-colored shirt is giving a thumbs up gesture with their right hand. The background is blurred, showing what appears to be an outdoor setting with some greenery and a building.

If you have a quick fix mindset, then you need to shift it to continuous improvement.
That means doing two things :

Accept the Fact that Improvement
Is a Never-Ending Battle

Accept the Fact that Improvement
Is a Result of Small Steps

Accept the Fact that Improvement Is a Never-Ending Battle

*I'm not where I'm supposed to be,
I'm not what I want to be,
But I'm not what I used to be.
I haven't learned how to arrive;
I've just learned how to keep on going.*

Accept the Fact that Improvement Is a Result of Small Steps

People today are looking for a secret to success. They want a magic bullet, an easy answer, a single thing that will catapult them fortune or fame. Success doesn't work that way.

A close-up photograph of two hands shaking in a firm, confident grip. The hands are positioned in the center of the frame, with the fingers interlaced. The background is a window with a grid pattern, and the lighting is soft, creating a warm and positive atmosphere. The overall image conveys a sense of agreement, partnership, and commitment.

4. Improvement Is Daily Commitment

If you want to improve, intentional growth needs to be a habit. Motivation may get you going, but the positive habits you develop and practice consistently are what you improving.

As I have worked to improve on a day-by-day basis, two words have helped me to stay on track.

4. Improvement is a daily commitment

If you want to spend some time each day to try to improve yourself, you might want to begin by asking yourself three questions at the end of the day.

Make improvement intentional

1. Decide You
Are Worth
Improving

2. Pick an Area
to Improve

3. Find Opportunities to Improve in the Wake of Your Losses
